INDEX FUND MANAGEMENT TEAM

The Index Fund Management team comprises 25 fund managers, supported by two analysts. Management oversight is provided by the Global Head of Index Funds. KEY RISKS

- Derivatives are highly sensitive to changes in the value of the asset on which they are based and can increase the size of losses and gains.
- Investment returns on bonds are particularly sensitive to trends in interest rate movements. Their values are likely to fall when interest rates rise. Such falls may be more pronounced in a low interest rate environment. Bonds with a longer time to go before their maturity date will fall by more than bonds with a short time to their maturity date.
- Credit ratings assigned to the individual assets in the fund can weaken and cause the value of those assets to fall.
- The fund invests in bonds which are issued by governments. If these governments experience financial difficulty, they may be unable to pay back some or all of the interest, original investment or other payments that they owe. If this happens, the value of your fund may fall.
- This fund invests in countries where investment markets are considered to be less developed. This means that investments are generally riskier than those in developed markets because they: may not be as well regulated; may be more difficult to buy and sell; may have less reliable arrangements for the safekeeping of investments; or may be more exposed to political and taxation uncertainties.
- The value of the fund can go up and down more often and by larger amounts than funds that invest in developed countries, especially in the short term.
- This fund has investments that, rather than being traded on an exchange, are traded through agents, brokers or investment banks matching buyers and sellers. This makes the investments less easy to buy and sell than those that are traded on an exchange and on any particular day there may not be a buyer or a seller for the investments. In times of market uncertainty or if an exceptional amount of withdrawals are requested it may become less easy for your fund to sell investments. If this happens, the value of your fund may fall and in extreme circumstances this may also force a delay in buying and selling your investment in the fund, which may mean you have to wait for your money to be invested or returned. The fund can only delay paying out if it is in the interests of all investors and with the permission of the fund trustee or depositary.
- The fund could lose money if any institutions providing services such as safekeeping of assets or acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments, becomes unwilling or unable to meet its obligations to the fund.
- We take the ongoing charges from the fund's capital rather than the fund's income. This increases the amount of income you may be paid, but it reduces the growth potential and may lead to a fall in the value of the fund.
