Unit Trust (UCITS compliant) R-Class GBP

Base currency: GBPDomicile: UK

FUND AIM

The objective of the Fund is to provide income and growth above those of the FTSE Asia Pacific ex-Japan TR Net Index (the "Benchmark Index"). The Fund aims to outperform the Benchmark Index by 2% per annum. This objective is before the deduction of any charges and measured over rolling three year periods.

RISK AND REWARD PROFILE

The synthetic risk and reward indicator (SRRI) is based on the historic volatility of the fund's value and it may change in the future.

The fund is in category 5 because it invests in company shares which are sensitive to variations in the stock market. The value of company shares can change substantially over short periods of time.

For more information, please refer to the Key Risks section on page 3.

FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

Asia Pacific ex Japan equities rebounded in April, up +8.1% in GBP terms. Risk appetite improved as the spread of COVID-19 slowed, Asian companies ramped up production, and rhetoric switched towards how current lockdowns will be lifted. The divergence in country returns noted in March reversed in April: China and Hong Kong were laggards over the month whilst Australia and India were up strongly. Macau posted the highest monthly performance (+16%).

The L&G Asian Income fund returned +10.8%, outperforming the benchmark. Given Australia's rebound, we benefited from our overweight position to the region and our stock selection within it. Our sizeable exposure to Macau versus benchmark also helped relative performance. On the negative side, stock selection within China hurt. After a strong March, China Shenhua Energy led the negative contribution to return this month. Likewise, our biggest detractors to relative performance in March were our most positive contributors to relative return in April: Australian equities Transurban, Scentre Group, and Qantas. Myer was the top absolute performer (+50%), followed by Melco Resorts and KT Corp. This was encouraging given we had added to our positions in these two stocks over the last two months.

Turning to trading activity, we participated in National Australia Bank's discounted equity raise. The bank is well-capitalised and we have confidence it can weather the uncertainty ahead. Continuing with the theme from last month of topping up telecommunications, we capitalised on the valuation opportunity presented by the share price fall in Indonesian telco, PT Telkom.

PAUL HILLSLEY

Paul joined LGIM in 2006 and is the lead fund manager for the Asian income portfolios. He has managed the Asian Income Trust since its inception. He began his investment career in 1991 at Phillips and Drew Fund Management, now called UBS Global Asset Management, and developed broad experience across UK, Europe, Japan and, predominantly, Asia ex Japan, over subsequent years. At LGIM Paul launched the Asian Income Trust in November 2008 and in 2013 formed the Global Income Team which, together with Andrew Koch, Stephen Message and Camilla Ayling forms the core of the firm's equity income expertise. He read engineering, economics and management at Lincoln College, Oxford University, and is an associate of the Society of Investment Professionals.

KEY RISKS

- The value of an investment and any income taken from it is not guaranteed and can go down as well as up; you may not get back the amount you originally invested.
- The fund could lose money if any institution providing services such as acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments, becomes unwilling or unable to meet its obligations to the fund.
- Derivatives are highly sensitive to changes in the value of the asset on which they are based and can increase the size of losses and gains.
- The fund may have underlying investments that are valued in currencies that are different from sterling (British pounds). Exchange rate fluctuations will impact the value of your investment. Currency hedging techniques may be applied to reduce this impact but may not entirely eliminate it.
- We may take some or all of the ongoing charges from the fund's capital rather than the fund's income. This increases the amount of income, but it reduces the growth potential and may lead to a fall in the value of the fund.
