FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

Despite seeing a positive performance for global markets, it was a more difficult month for the FTSE All Share, which reversed part of December's strong performance. Much of the decline in large caps was due to sterling strength and a decline in the bond proxies. Meanwhile for mid-caps we saw several profit warnings. At a sector level, basic materials were pushed higher by rising commodity markets. Investors also favoured industries with strong EPS indicators, such as financials, industrials and consumer discretionary. Meanwhile, consumer staples, utilities and telecoms underperformed.

Overall, current UK economic data releases are presenting a consistent picture: an improved performance by manufacturing and trade, but a challenging environment for the consumer. M&A enjoyed its strongest start to a year for over a decade, helped by greater clarity on US tax reforms and more signs of industry consolidation as companies look to enhance organic growth. The initial estimate for UK GDP in Q4 delivered a modest upside surprise. Meanwhile business sentiment remains broadly resilient.

In what was a difficult month for income funds, we are pleased that the fund delivered relative outperformance of 1.5%. This was predominantly driven by stock selection, most notably in industrials and healthcare sectors. Meanwhile, in terms of asset positioning, we benefited from our active underweight in consumer goods and zero weighting in utilities. Conversely, our overweight in the telecoms sector subtracted value.

KEY RISKS

- Derivatives are highly sensitive to changes in the value of the asset on which they are based and can increase the size of losses and gains. The impact to the fund can be greater where derivatives are used in an extensive or complex way.
- The fund may have underlying investments that are valued in currencies that are different from Sterling (British Pounds). Any such investments will be impacted by exchange rate fluctuations and this may affect the value of your investment and any income from it. Currency hedging techniques may have been applied to reduce the impact of exchange rate fluctuations but may not entirely eliminate it.
- The fund could lose money if any institutions providing services such as safekeeping of assets or acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments, becomes unwilling or unable to meet its obligations to the fund.
