FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

Following a strong start to the year, there was a dramatic turn of fortunes during May. The FTSE All Share index broke its four month winning streak, as the unfolding economic conflict between the U.S. and China led to a return of recession fears.

After failing to break the Brexit impasse, Prime Minister Theresa May announced she will step down as Conservative leader. Elsewhere, dovish central bank messaging helped to drive core bond yields lower. Finally, a solid Q1 reporting season resulted in an improvement in the earnings revision ratios across most equity markets.

For investors, there were few hiding places as the majority of sectors fell. Cyclical industries were hit especially hard, with UK domestics and retailers firmly out of favour. Defensives fared better, which extended to other safe haven assets, while small-caps surprisingly also outperformed. From a style view, value stocks underperformed, while low beta and quality stood out.

The L&G UK Special Situations fund reported a disappointing return of -5.0% in the period. Stock selection effects were detrimental, with the largest drivers of negative performance from Oil & Gas and Industrial companies. Sector allocation was broadly neutral. Looking at individual stocks, Melrose, DS Smith, Glencore and Hunting were detrimental. Huntsworth was the best performing stock, while Georgia Healthcare and GRIT Real Estate Income also added value.

On trading activity, the fund introduced new positions in Cineworld and Hays. Meanwhile, holdings of Jupiter and Blue Prism were reduced.

He read Philosophy, Politics and Economics at Pembroke College, Oxford and is a member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales.

KEY RISKS

- The value of an investment and any income taken from it is not guaranteed and can go down as well as up. You may not get back the amount you originally invested.
- The return from this fund is dependent on relatively few individual investments. This means that a fall in the value of an individual investment can have a major impact on the overall performance of the fund.
- The fund could lose money if any institution providing services such as acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments, becomes unwilling or unable to meet its obligations to the fund.
- Derivatives are highly sensitive to changes in the value of the asset on which they are based and can increase the size of losses and gains.
- The fund may have underlying investments that are valued in currencies that are different from sterling (British pounds). Exchange rate fluctuations will impact the value of your investment. Currency hedging techniques may be applied to reduce this impact but may not entirely eliminate it.
