FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

While global equity markets delivered positive performance in July, a hawkish rate cut from the Federal Reserve and a feeling of déjà-vu around the latest escalation in trade tensions once more highlighted the disconnect between risk assets and the broader macro environment.

In the UK, sterling fell to its lowest level in over two years as market fears around a no-deal Brexit intensify. Even if we discount the currency impact, driven purely by economic and political headwinds, UK equity valuations are 19% below their long-term average.

Fundamentally, there has been plenty to digest in terms of corporate newsflow. Meanwhile, the fall in sterling has at least made the UK more attractive to potential acquirers. Bids for Just Eat and Cobham could prove to be just the start of the 'open season'.

Turning to equity market returns, the FTSE 100 was one of the best performers globally in GBP terms. Quality defensives and bond proxy sectors broadly found favour. Outperformers included large-cap pharmaceutical, telecoms, tobacco, aerospace and retail sectors.

The L&G Growth Trust recorded a positive return of 2.3% in July, driven by strong selection in Technology and Consumer Services. Sector allocation was positive, led by the underweight in Resources and overweight to structural growth names. The most significant stock move was on the back of the warning from Aston Martin, which came as a great disappointment.

KEY RISKS

- The value of an investment and any income taken from it is not guaranteed and can go down as well as up. You may not get back the amount you originally invested.
- The return from this fund is dependent on relatively few individual investments. This means that a fall in the value of an individual investment can have a major impact on the overall performance of the fund.
- The fund could lose money if any institution providing services such as acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments, becomes unwilling or unable to meet its obligations to the fund.
- Derivatives are highly sensitive to changes in the value of the asset on which they are based and can increase the size of losses and gains.
- The fund may have underlying investments that are valued in currencies that are different from sterling (British pounds). Exchange rate fluctuations will impact the value of your investment. Currency hedging techniques may be applied to reduce this impact but may not entirely eliminate it.
