

Legal & General Asian Income Trust

Unit Trust (UCITS compliant) C-Class GBP

FUND AIM

The objective of this Fund is to provide income and growth above that of the FTSE Asia Pacific ex-Japan TR Net Index (the "Benchmark Index"). The Fund aims to outperform the Benchmark Index by 2% per annum. This objective is before the deduction of any charges and measured over rolling three year periods.

RISK AND REWARD PROFILE

The synthetic risk and reward indicator (SRRI) is based on the historic volatility of the fund's value and it may change in the future.

The fund is in category 5 because it invests in company shares which are sensitive to variations in the stock market. The value of company shares can change substantially over short periods of time.

For more information, please refer to the Key Risks section on page 3.

FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

Global trade turmoil continues to dominate sentiment on Asian markets. The outcome for talks between the US-China on trade continues to be the main focus for investors, with a bad scenario possibly leading to a halt to the reform agenda. On the data front, we saw a small improvement from China, which suggested that stimulus efforts have begun to have an impact, while the outlook for H2 arguably looks more promising.

By country, Taiwan, Australasia and Macau were strong regions during July. On the flipside, economic and political headwinds weighed on investor sentiment towards India as investor disappointment on a lack of measures to support for growth in the budget hurt performance. Korea was also weak as the technology industry was hit by restrictions on exports from Japan as a longstanding dispute over wartime reparations. At the sector level, Technology had a strong month, as did Consumer Services and Healthcare. Meanwhile, from a style perspective, Growth significantly outperformed Value.

The fund delivered a positive return of 2.8% in the period. Australia and Korea were the biggest positive contributors at the country level. This strength was partially offset by the underweight positioning and selection in China. India was weak, but we are currently underweight, so this has less of an impact. By industry, selection in Industrials and Financials was positive. At the stock level, Transurban and Qantas were standout performers. Coal India and NTPC were weak. On activity, we initiated a new position in CIMC Vehicles Group.

PAUL HILLSLEY

Paul joined LGIM in 2006 and is the lead fund manager for the Asian income portfolios. He has managed the Asian Income Trust since its inception. He began his investment career in 1991 at Phillips and Drew Fund Management, now called UBS Global Asset Management, and developed broad experience across UK, Europe, Japan and, predominantly, Asia ex Japan, over subsequent years. At LGIM Paul launched the Asian Income Trust in November 2008 and in 2013 formed the Global Income Team which, together with Andrew Koch, Stephen Message and Veeral Gandhi forms the core of the firm's equity income expertise. He read engineering, economics and management at Lincoln College, Oxford University, and is an associate of the Society of Investment Professionals.

KEY RISKS

- The value of an investment and any income taken from it is not guaranteed and can go down as well as up. You may not get back the amount you originally invested.
- The fund could lose money if any institution providing services such as acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments, becomes unwilling or unable to meet its obligations to the fund.
- Derivatives are highly sensitive to changes in the value of the asset on which they are based and can increase the size of losses and gains.
- The fund may have underlying investments that are valued in currencies that are different from sterling (British pounds). Exchange rate fluctuations will impact the value of your investment. Currency hedging techniques may be applied to reduce this impact but may not entirely eliminate it.
- We may take some or all of the ongoing charges from the fund's capital rather than the fund's income. This increases the amount of income, but it reduces the growth potential and may lead to a fall in the value of the fund.
