FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

December confirmed the strong performance of global equities in 2019. The biggest market event was seen in the UK, where the general election outcome was favourable for domestic-focused equities, as Boris Johnson's Conservative party won by a clear majority. Elsewhere, markets also benefited from the reaction to the latest announcement of a phase 1 agreement between the US-China, as tensions moderated over the trade deal. Meanwhile, economic data continues to hold out. Finally, the Bank of England and Fed opted to keep central bank policy rates on hold. The Fed signalled they would likely remain so through 2020.

In respect of equity market performance, style factors continue to deviate regionally, though the Q4 rebound for Cyclical and Financials in the UK continued. Miners also enjoyed a better month. By size, Large-caps were weak on a relative basis, given mid and small-cap gearing to Brexit positivity. Value once more advanced, though Quality also fared well.

The UK Special Situations fund delivered a positive return of 3.2% in the period, which was in line with the benchmark performance. Stock selection had a positive impact, with gains in Oil & Gas and Consumer Services. This was offset slightly by some relative selection weakness in Financials and Healthcare. In terms of sector allocation, the underweight positioning in Utilities had a small negative impact. At the company level, top performers included UK domestic names Taylor Wimpey, Tesco and St James's Place. Elsewhere, Carnival and Cairn Energy also performed well.

He read Philosophy, Politics and Economics at Pembroke College, Oxford and is a member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales.

KEY RISKS

- The value of an investment and any income taken from it is not guaranteed and can go down as well as up. You may not get back the amount you originally invested.
- The return from this fund is dependent on relatively few individual investments. This means that a fall in the value of an individual investment can have a major impact on the overall performance of the fund.
- The fund could lose money if any institution providing services such as acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments, becomes unwilling or unable to meet its obligations to the fund.
- Derivatives are highly sensitive to changes in the value of the asset on which they are based and can increase the size of losses and gains.
- The fund may have underlying investments that are valued in currencies that are different from sterling (British pounds). Exchange rate fluctuations will impact the value of your investment. Currency hedging techniques may be applied to reduce this impact but may not entirely eliminate it.
