FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

The aggressive sell-off for risk assets in March resulted in heavy falls for equity markets. We've seen global demand collapse and supply shock, which drove a 10-day halving of oil prices. Early investor concern on potential supply chain, earnings and multiple risk has since given way to a focus on balance sheet health and liquidity. Through the month, we saw an increasing number of corporates cutting dividends, reducing capex and suspending buybacks amid a growing cash preservation stance.

Turning to equity market performance, all sectors reported varying degrees of negative returns in the period as equities de-rated sharply. As we approach the Q1 earnings season we appear set for downgrades, given still high expectations from analysts, however we think these are widely anticipated by investors. In the UK, Healthcare, Utilities and Consumer Goods sectors were relative outperformers. Cyclical and rate-sensitive sectors were the laggards. By size, Mid and Small-caps underperformed Large-cap companies. At the factor level, Value lagged Quality and Growth styles.

The L&G UK Equity Income reported a negative return of -19.6% in the period, as the fund suffered from weakness in cyclical and rate-sensitive stocks. Stock selection in Financials and Oils had the biggest negative contribution. On allocation, the underweight in Healthcare and overweight in Consumer Services detracted value. By company, Carnival, Melrose, RBS Group and Next were the big underperformers. Turning to positives, we saw strong performance from food retailers Morrison and Tesco. On activity, we introduced a new position in food services specialist SSP Group.

KEY RISKS

- The value of an investment and any income taken from it is not guaranteed and can go down as well as up; you may not get back the amount you originally invested.
- The fund could lose money if any institution providing services such as acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments, becomes unwilling or unable to meet its obligations to the fund.
- Derivatives are highly sensitive to changes in the value of the asset on which they are based and can increase the size of losses and gains. The impact to the fund can be greater where derivatives are used in an extensive or complex way.
- The fund may have underlying investments that are valued in currencies that are different from sterling (British pounds). Exchange rate fluctuations will impact the value of your investment. Currency hedging techniques may be applied to reduce this impact but may not entirely eliminate it.
- We may take some or all of the ongoing charges from the fund's capital rather than the fund's income. This increases the amount of income, but it reduces the growth potential and may lead to a fall in the value of the fund.
