FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

Equity markets performed better in November, though investors remain relatively risk averse. Bottom-up newsflow began to recede on the completion of Q3 corporate earnings, meaning that market direction was once more in the hands of top-down drivers. Global growth indicators continue to imply an economic slowdown, while the response to comments from a less hawkish Fed and the Bank of England's post-Brexit scenarios were met with a degree of caution. Meanwhile, recent output and activity data in the Eurozone region disappointed the market as earnings season also failed to inspire.

European equity markets saw a modest decline in the period, falling -0.5% in total returns. Mid-caps were much weaker, while low beta names and some value sectors found support. In terms of outperformers, we saw telecoms, food retail and utilities top the winners list. On the flipside, resources, industrials and software industries fared poorly. Oil appears precariously poised, as prices fell heavily as the market awaits OPEC action to address global oversupply.

Turning to performance, the L&G European Trust disappointingly underperformed its benchmark once more, falling -4.2% in November. Both stock selection and sector allocation were detrimental, led by our positioning in mid-caps, where we are overweight, and selection in cyclical sectors including consumer services and industrials. Selection in consumer goods was also unhelpful to relative returns. At the stock level, AMS, Adyen, Tenaris, Sensirion, Westwing, Ubisoft and Umicore all underperformed. Key positives were Basware, Vestas Wind Systems and Campari.

On activity, there was no significant trading in the period.

GAVIN LAUNDER

Gavin joined LGIM in 2007 and is a Fund Manager for the European ex UK portfolios. He has managed the European Growth Trust since August 2013.

Previously, he was a Global Equities Analyst at BlueBay Asset Management. Gavin spent the majority of his buy-side career as a Portfolio Manager with UBS O'Connor. Prior, he was a top-rated, sell-side analyst covering the Autos, Capital Goods and Conglomerates sectors at investment banks including SG Warburg and Goldman Sachs. Gavin holds a degree in Philosophy and Economics from University College, London.

KEY RISKS

- The return from this fund is dependent on relatively few individual investments. This means that a fall in the value of an individual investment can have a major impact on the overall performance of the fund.
- The fund could lose money if any institution providing services such as acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments, becomes unwilling or unable to meet its obligations to the fund.
- Derivatives are highly sensitive to changes in the value of the asset on which they are based and can increase the size of losses and gains.
- The fund may have underlying investments that are valued in currencies that are different from sterling (British pounds). Any such investments will be impacted by exchange rate fluctuations and this may affect the value of your investment and any income from it. Currency hedging techniques may be applied to reduce the impact of exchange rate fluctuations but may not entirely eliminate it.
