FUND CHARACTERISTICS

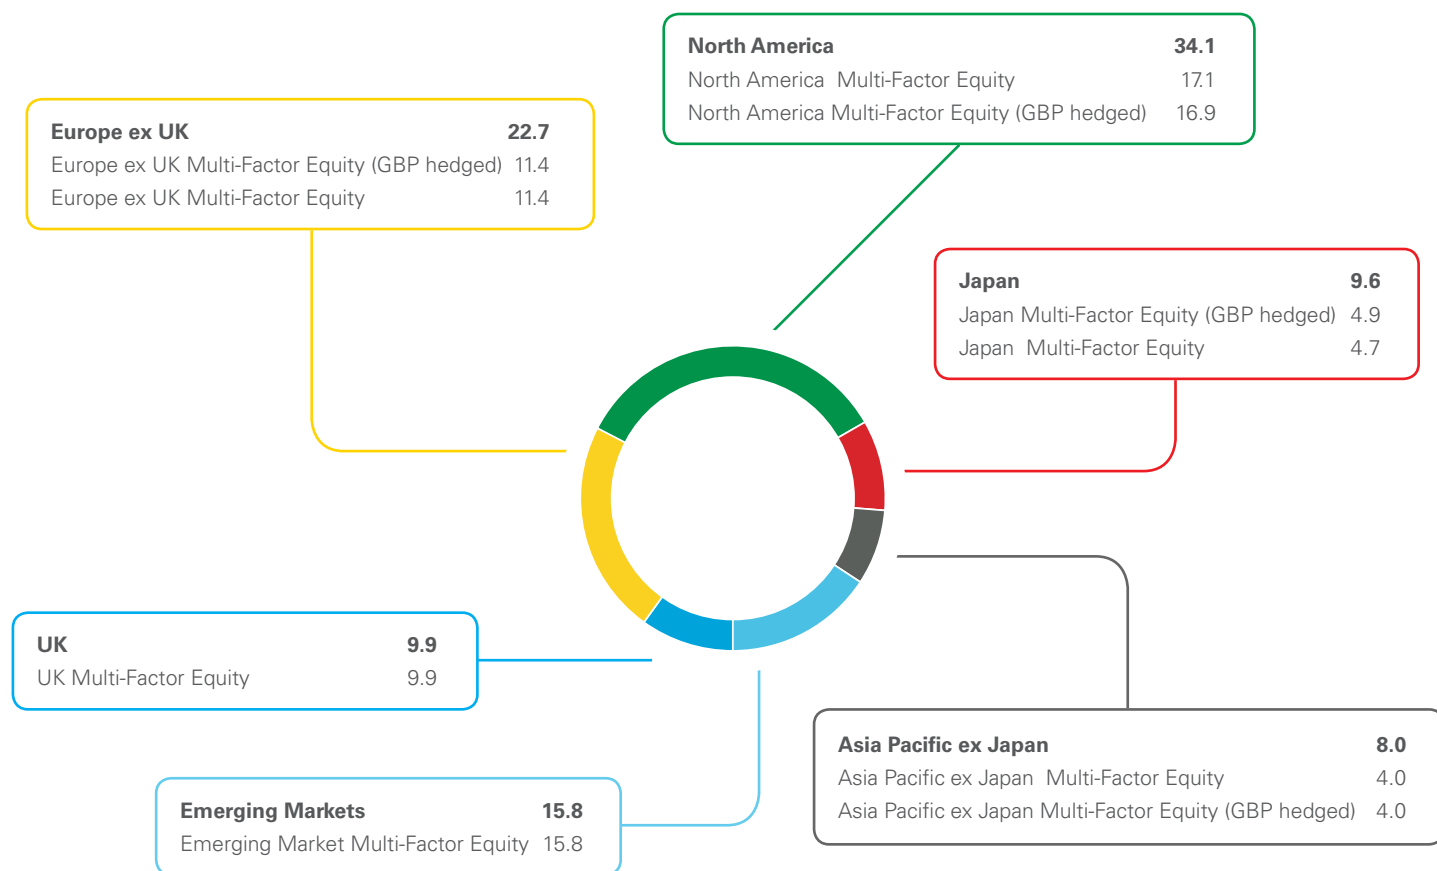

The fund will be fully invested in equities that exhibit the characteristics of certain equity risk factors that have been shown to be rewarded over the long term. The fund will gain exposure by investing in regional multi-factor building blocks. The regional allocation will be reviewed periodically (at least annually) and the fund will not take short term, tactical asset allocation positions. Derivatives may be used within the underlying funds for efficient portfolio management.

Comparator note

We show the Fund's performance against a comparator of 33% FTSE North America Index (50% GBP hedged), 52% FTSE Developed ex North America Index (50% GBP hedged) and 15% FTSE Emerging Index, which broadly reflects the regional allocation and hedging of the fund as the fund targets multiple factors with the aim of improving returns versus similar regionally-weighted market- capitalisation indices while reducing stock-level concentration.

FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

The third quarter was generally kind to multi-asset investors, with various crises only having a localised impact. President Trump imposed new tariffs on Chinese goods, Argentina and Turkey experienced financial crises, while Italy’s new fiscal plan worried European investors. However, US growth was strong and the Federal Reserve stuck to its quarterly pace of rate hikes. Global equity performance was marked by US outperformance, while Japan recovered previous losses. Emerging markets (EM) were broadly flat overall, while UK equities were the laggards amid ongoing uncertainty regarding Brexit negotiations. Most sovereign bond markets delivered modestly negative returns as yields rose amid solid economic data.

The Diversified Multi-Factor Equity Fund delivered positive a return during the third quarter of 2018. This was ahead of its comparator of market-cap equities with a similar regional weighting. Market-cap equities were up during the quarter, so the fund’s lower beta was a small drag on performance. However, this was more than offset by the contribution from factors. Although the contribution from value was relatively flat, quality and low volatility both performed strongly, which is broadly consistent with how these factors have historically performed in latter stages of the economic cycle.

The fund invests in equities across developed and emerging markets while targeting factor characteristics that we believe to be rewarded over the long term. The fund is positioned to provide a balanced exposure to four factors: value, quality, low volatility and size.

KEY RISKS

- The value of an investment and any income taken from it is not guaranteed and can go down as well as up. You may get back less than the amount you originally invested.
- The return from your investment is not guaranteed and therefore you may receive a lower or higher return than you anticipated. There will be a variation in performance between funds with similar objectives due to the different assets selected.
- PMC's charges and associated transaction costs are subject to change, with notice for the former and without notice for the latter. Charges and transactions costs deducted from the policy reduce your potential for capital growth in the future.
- Tax rules and the treatment of income and capital gains could change in the future and may be applied retrospectively.
- Inflation reduces the purchasing power of money over time as the cost of purchasing goods and services increases. If the rate of inflation exceeds the rate of return on your portfolio, it will erode the value of your portfolio and its investments in real terms.
- In extreme market conditions it may be difficult to realise assets held for a fund and it may not be possible to redeem units at short notice. We may have to delay acting on your instructions to sell or the price at which you cancel the units may be lower than you anticipated.
- The value of a fund's assets may be affected by uncertainties such as international political developments, market sentiment, economic conditions, changes in government policies, restrictions on foreign investment and currency repatriation, currency fluctuations and other developments in the laws and regulations of countries in which investment may be made.
- PMC seeks to mitigate counterparty risk wherever possible on behalf of its policyholders through a variety of measures which include: each fund's non-cash assets being held with independent custodians, sweeping cash (where appropriate) overnight into the LGIM's range of Liquidity funds (above a deminimus level), using the delivery versus payment system when settling transactions and the use of central clearing for exchange traded derivatives and forward foreign exchange transactions. However, in the event of the failure of a counterparty, custodian or issuer there is a residual risk that a fund may suffer asset losses which are unrecoverable.
