FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

Following a strong first quarter for risk assets, equity markets extended their recent strength into April. Buoyed by better data indicators from the US and recent signs of stabilisation in the Chinese economy, growth stocks outperformed in the period. Arguably, the most encouraging developments in the past month are that sluggish economic activity readings now appear to be discounted and that earnings downgrades are receding.

The latest BAML Fund Manager survey results show global risk appetite has improved. Seemingly, investor assumptions imply many of the global economic events will be resolved favourably, but it's likely the onus falls on corporate earnings to have a determining impact on price momentum going forward.

Turning to market performance, global sector leadership was mainly with industrials, financials, consumer services and tech. This reflected ebbing concerns about the global economic outlook. In the UK, mid-caps were also very strong performers, helped by domestic cyclical plays. On the flipside, we saw disappointing returns for some defensive mega-caps. By sector, healthcare, utilities and resources all broadly underperformed.

The L&G Growth Trust delivered very strong performance in April, outperforming its benchmark in excess of 800bps. The portfolio benefited from its favourable overweight to cyclicals, whilst also seeing added value from its underweight in healthcare and resources. Stock selection in consumer services, industrials and mid-caps made a leading contribution.

KEY RISKS

- The value of an investment and any income taken from it is not guaranteed and can go down as well as up. You may not get back the amount you originally invested.
- The return from this fund is dependent on relatively few individual investments. This means that a fall in the value of an individual investment can have a major impact on the overall performance of the fund.
- The fund could lose money if any institution providing services such as acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments, becomes unwilling or unable to meet its obligations to the fund.
- Derivatives are highly sensitive to changes in the value of the asset on which they are based and can increase the size of losses and gains.
- The fund may have underlying investments that are valued in currencies that are different from sterling (British pounds). Exchange rate fluctuations will impact the value of your investment. Currency hedging techniques may be applied to reduce this impact but may not entirely eliminate it.
