FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

Following the sharp Q4 sell-off last year, European equity markets continue to recover well from the low point. The more globally exposed nature of cyclical sectors has led to another month of positive returns for equity markets, driven primarily by early signs of a renormalisation of risk.

In Europe, the ECB is considering additional measures to maintain the flow of credit in a subdued Eurozone economy. Data indicators would suggest Eurozone growth appears muted, largely due to a loss in momentum in manufacturing industries and decline in business sentiment. Brexit induced fatigue also appear to be showing for both sides. Prodeal MPs have started to show more coordination and UK Prime Minister Theresa May has come under pressure to agree to an extension of Article 50.

Turning to equity markets, cyclicals largely outperformed this month. Electronics, retailers, construction, software, insurance and banks were the strongest performing areas of the market. All sectors apart from utilities and telecom saw positive returns. Value stocks saw small underperformance against other style tilts, with domestic focused companies also out of favour.

For performance, the L&G European Equity Income fund delivered a net return of 1.1% in the period, against the benchmark return of 2.1%. Stock selection was a drag on attribution, with our holdings in financials and consumer services both underperforming. This was partially offset by good gains in technology and healthcare. Sector positioning was a small positive, with our overweight in banks adding value.

KEY RISKS

- The fund could lose money if any institution providing services such as acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments, becomes unwilling or unable to meet its obligations to the fund.
- Derivatives are highly sensitive to changes in the value of the asset on which they are based and can increase the size of losses and gains.
- The fund may have underlying investments that are valued in currencies that are different from sterling (British pounds). Exchange rate fluctuations will impact the value of your investment. Currency hedging techniques may be applied to reduce this impact but may not entirely eliminate it.
- We may take some or all of the ongoing charges from the fund's capital rather than the fund's income. This increases the amount of income, but it reduces the growth potential and may lead to a fall in the value of the fund.
