FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

Following a strong October, equity markets were largely negative in November, with the FTSE All Share closing down -1.7%. General sentiment was affected by events in the US, with uncertainty over timing for the US tax reform push. Elsewhere, the UK budget saw big downgrades to the official growth outlook. Finally, OPEC's agreement to extend production cuts helped put a floor under the oil price.

The main Brexit news showed increasing optimism amid reports that UK and EU negotiators reached an agreement on the Brexit bill. Looking at economic data, PMIs surprised to the upside, with monthly manufacturing data for November growing at its fastest pace in more than four years.

Large caps were the biggest underperformers, not helped by a sterling rally. At a sector level, aerospace & defence endured a difficult month on the back of warnings from Ultra and QinetiQ. There were positive contributions from telecoms, food retailers, beverages and real estate sectors. From a style perspective, momentum stocks enjoyed a good month, while value stocks were more mixed.

The fund returned -1.7% in November, which was in line with the index return. Stock selection was mixed, with gains in consumer services and technology offset by weakness in consumer goods and industrials. Sector allocation was broadly neutral, although our underweight in financials and overweight in industrials proved unhelpful.

KEY RISKS

- Derivatives are highly sensitive to changes in the value of the asset on which they are based and can increase the size of losses and gains.
- The fund may have underlying investments that are valued in currencies that are different from Sterling (British Pounds). Any such investments will be impacted by exchange rate fluctuations and this may affect the value of your investment and any income from it. Currency hedging techniques may have been applied to reduce the impact of exchange rate fluctuations but may not entirely eliminate it.
- The return from this fund is dependent on relatively few individual investments. This means that a fall in the value of an individual investment can have a major impact on the overall performance of the fund.
- The fund could lose money if any institutions providing services such as safekeeping of assets or acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments, becomes unwilling or unable to meet its obligations to the fund.
