FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

Another month passes with little concrete development around US-China trade developments, though there is growing optimism for a deal. In UK politics, Brexit-related risk has now moved onto worries over the outcome of a December general election. Meanwhile, the Q3 reporting season has been better than expected for most sectors. Globally, share price reaction has generally been skewed to the upside, though there have been some industry specific pockets of weakness.

The removal of an immediate threat of disruption from a 'no deal' Brexit was helpful to UK market performance. We saw the Brexit discount close slightly amid some recognition of the valuation merits, albeit aided by a bounce in sterling. This helped UK small and mid-caps outperform the overseas-focused FTSE 100. There was a continuation of style rotation as Value saw outperformance, though the sector picture was more mixed. In general, Cyclical outperformed Defensives. Staples were generally weak on the back of a lacklustre earnings season. Energy and Resources were also out of favour.

The fund reported good relative outperformance for October. Stock selection gains in Industrials and Financials was positive, while sector allocation was also helpful, as our underweight positioning in Consumer Goods made a positive relative contribution. Top individual contributors in the period were Ferguson, GVC Holdings, GoCo and St James's Place. The biggest detractors were Carnival, Hunting and Energiean. On activity, we switched GVC Holdings into AB Foods.

KEY RISKS

- The value of your investment and any income you take from it may fall as well as rise and is not guaranteed. You might get back less than you invest.
- The return from this fund is dependent on relatively few individual investments. This means that a fall in the value of an individual investment can have a major impact on the overall performance of the fund.
- The fund could lose money if any institution providing services such as acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments, becomes unwilling or unable to meet its obligations to the fund.
- Derivatives are highly sensitive to changes in the value of the asset on which they are based and can increase the size of losses and gains.
- The fund may have underlying investments that are valued in currencies that are different from sterling (British pounds). Exchange rate fluctuations will impact the value of your investment. Currency hedging techniques may be applied to reduce this impact but may not entirely eliminate it.
