

Legal & General European Equity Income Fund

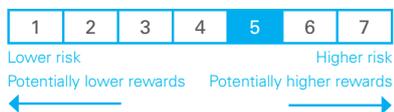

Unit Trust (UCITS compliant) I-Class GBP

FUND AIM

The objective of the fund is to generate income in excess of the FTSE Europe ex-UK Index over rolling 3 year periods.

RISK AND REWARD PROFILE

The synthetic risk and reward indicator (SRRI) is based on the historic volatility of the fund's value and it may change in the future.

The fund is in category 5 because it invests in company shares which are sensitive to variations in the stock market. The value of company shares can change substantially over short periods of time.

For more information, please refer to the Key Risks section on page 3.

FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

We've seen a strong start to the year for equity markets, as a message regarding the virtues of patience from the Fed provided a much-needed positive catalyst. Much of the damage done during November and December now appears repaired, though low liquidity would suggest investors are sceptical of future returns. Flows and sentiment may remain subdued, but markets have proved resilient in the face of mixed top-down data, political headlines and corporate earnings newsflow.

In Europe, negative economic data has been quite pronounced in recent weeks as external headwinds, domestic demand and the impact of political unrest weighs on momentum. However, a more dovish message from the ECB has helped towards a stellar performance for markets year-to-date.

For European ex-UK equity markets, the energy sector was the best performer on the back of the oil price rally. Industrials have been led by a strong rebound in the autos sector, while resources performed well as iron ore prices approached a 2 year high. Semiconductors were also in favour, helped by better results from industry leaders in the Far East. Meanwhile, telecoms and healthcare sectors underperformed.

For the L&G European Equity Income, the fund delivered a net return of 4.6% in the period, against the index return of 3.1%. This was largely all due to stock selection, though our overweight in commodity sectors added value, after both energy and resources outperformed. Within other sectors, we saw good individual gains in consumer goods and services. Offsetting this slightly was relative weakness in financials.

ANDREW KOCH

Andrew joined LGIM in August 2014 and is a Fund Manager in the Global Income team. He joined from the in-house pension scheme at BAE Systems, where he was head of the European equities team, and a member of the asset allocation committee. Previously, he managed European equities for institutional and retail funds at Henderson Global Investors and HSBC Asset Management. He started his career at Phillips & Drew in 1992, where he spent 10 years investing in UK, European and Japanese Equities. He has an MA in PPE from New College, Oxford. Andrew is a CFA charterholder (since 1998) and an ASIP.

KEY RISKS

- The fund could lose money if any institution providing services such as acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments, becomes unwilling or unable to meet its obligations to the fund.
- Derivatives are highly sensitive to changes in the value of the asset on which they are based and can increase the size of losses and gains.
- The fund may have underlying investments that are valued in currencies that are different from sterling (British pounds). Any such investments will be impacted by exchange rate fluctuations and this may affect the value of your investment and any income from it. Currency hedging techniques may be applied to reduce the impact of exchange rate fluctuations but may not entirely eliminate it.
- We may take some or all of the ongoing charges from the fund's capital rather than the fund's income. This increases the amount of income, but it reduces the growth potential and may lead to a fall in the value of the fund.
