FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

It was a mixed month for equities, with tech stocks lifting US market performance, while in the UK and Europe volatility was much more evident as both regions delivered negative returns. UK equity market performance proved most disappointing, with cyclicals and value stocks hit hardest. By sector, Tech, Materials, Healthcare and Utilities outperformed. Telecoms, Financials, Consumer Services and Industrials were out of favour.

For the fund, sector positioning was unhelpful, with the underweight in materials the biggest headwind. Meanwhile the lack of exposure to mega-cap defensive names also detracted value, where AstraZeneca, Diageo and Unilever performed strongly. Stock selection saw mixed performance, with gains in financials and oil & gas offset by weakness within industrials and technology.

At the company level, performance was impacted by weak trading updates from Taylor Wimpey and DS Smith. Taylor Wimpey flagged weaker margins than the market had expected as low level of site activity and ongoing productivity losses through social distancing saw the under absorption of fixed costs versus prior periods. DS Smith reported weak performance from its US assets where paper pricing has been very weak and impacted overall group returns. SSP Group and Micro Focus International were additional laggards. There was some positive performance from Next who reported numbers above previous base case expectations and also GoCo where their tech led auto save proposition continues to deliver very strong growth.

In terms of trading activity, we introduced a small position in De La Rue, the currency and authentication solutions business.

ENVIRONMENTAL PERFORMANCE

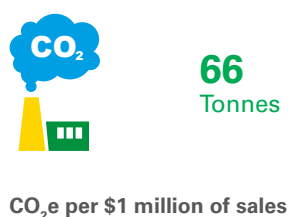

Carbon dioxide (CO₂) is the most significant contributor to greenhouse gas emissions which are driving climate change.

CARBON RESERVES

Carbon reserves are fossil fuels (coal, oil and gas) which, if burnt, will become the carbon emissions of the future. To meet global climate change targets, the unabated use of fossil fuels is expected to decline over time.

The figure is a measure of the size of carbon reserves held by the fund's underlying companies.

CARBON EMISSIONS

Following the global Paris Agreement on climate change, companies in all sectors are expected to reduce their emissions to prepare and adapt for a low-carbon economy.

Carbon emissions intensity describes the relationship between the carbon emissions of a company and its salesⁱⁱ.

NOTES

ⁱ Carbon dioxide equivalent (CO₂e) is a standard unit to compare the emissions of different greenhouse gases.

ⁱⁱ The choice of this metric follows best practice recommendations from the Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures.

KEY RISKS

- The value of an investment and any income taken from it is not guaranteed and can go down as well as up; you may not get back the amount you originally invested.
- The return from this fund is dependent on relatively few individual investments. This means that a fall in the value of an individual investment can have a major impact on the overall performance of the fund.
- The fund could lose money if any institution providing services such as acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments, becomes unwilling or unable to meet its obligations to the fund.
- Derivatives are highly sensitive to changes in the value of the asset on which they are based and can increase the size of losses and gains.
- The fund may have underlying investments that are valued in currencies that are different from sterling (British pounds). Exchange rate fluctuations will impact the value of your investment. Currency hedging techniques may be applied to reduce this impact but may not entirely eliminate it.
